

music technology

Hi folks!

We here in music technology are really looking forward to getting started with you in the new academic year and to get things going, we have put together a few links to some websites and videos that you might find interesting.

Click here for help with beginner's music theory. It's not a requirement of the course but it will definitely help you when it comes to working with musicians in the studio and with composition tasks.

Click here for loads of information about the different careers that you could go into after studying music technology at college and university. You will be surprised by how many different jobs there are out there.

Click here for a beginner's tutorial on Logic Pro X. Logic is the software that we use in music technology. Don't worry if you have never used it before or if you don't have it at home. This is a really good video that walks you through the basics and then you will be more familiar with it when we start using it next year.

Click here for loads of articles, videos and walk throughs from industry professions showing you how to record, mix and master different instruments.

Click here for loads of articles, videos and walk throughs from industry professions showing you how to make music in Logic Pro X and other DAWs.